

WARM FOR ANDERSON

Bankers Are After State Examiner's Scalp.

CALLED ONE BANK DOWN

INSTITUTION THAT WAS VIOLATING THE LAW.

President of the Bank Now Wants the Examiner Removed—Mr. Anderson Claims That He Is Keeping Within the Law—Other Bankers Stand By Him.

Robert R. Anderson, the state bank examiner for Utah, is in trouble because, as he stated, he enforced the law against delinquent bankers. This movement against the examiner has been conducted quietly and has not yet reached the stage of calling upon Governor Wells for the officer's discharge, but because of the influence of the men at the bottom of it, Mr. Anderson feels somewhat nervous.

This trouble originated last month. In examining banks in this city, Mr. Anderson discovered some things that he considered wrong. It has been his policy always to move along the line of least resistance. He started in this direction in this case by applying to Attorney General Bishop for an opinion published and for public use. He then took up the point upon which a decision was asked. A state bank, incorporated for $100,000, loaned $15,000 to a bank, to a company. It then loaned $10,000 more to members of this same company and took individual notes endorsed by the company, and the proper officers were made against the company on the bank's books. As security, notes from farmers to the company were furnished the bank showing that the whole $55,000 was covered by the one loan. In his opinion on this point the attorney general held that this was a direct violation of the statutes, and quoted sections to sustain his position. The remedy he proposed was to proceed to the appointment of a receiver, as set forth in section 380.

The effort to oust Bank Examiner Anderson is said to be an outgrowth of this case, and Mr. Anderson states that the fight is under the leadership of the bank president.

No Confidential Opinion.

Attorney General Bishop, in his reply, stated that he never rendered confidential opinions—they were always published and for public use. He then took up the point upon which a decision was asked. A state bank, incorporated for $100,000, loaned $15,000 to a bank, to a company. It then loaned $10,000 more to members of this same company and took individual notes endorsed by the company, and the proper officers were made against the company on the bank's books. As security, notes from farmers to the company were furnished the bank showing that the whole $55,000 was covered by the one loan. In his opinion on this point the attorney general held that this was a direct violation of the statutes, and quoted sections to sustain his position. The remedy he proposed was to proceed to the appointment of a receiver, as set forth in section 380.

Charges Against Anderson.

The bank examiner is charged with giving this opinion of the attorney general out to the public. He is charged with giving it to the men affected by it. This he denies. He is charged with being arbitrary. This he denies also. He claims to be keeping within the law, at all times, and while his opinion is in his hands, he is not to be considered as arbitrary in his constructions as his oath of office will permit.

There are other bankers who feel that they have grievances against Mr. Anderson, while there are others who sustain and endorse his course. He asserts that he has been doing his duty as best he can, and while his opinion is in his hands, he is not to be considered as arbitrary in his constructions as his oath of office will permit.

SALT LAKE'S PALACE

Beautiful Structure to Be Opened Tomorrow Night.

ITS DAZZLING BEAUTY

HUNDREDS OF WORKMEN RUSHING THE WORK.

Programme for the Opening Exercises—Speeches by Prominent Officials—Building Will Be Illuminated by 1,600 Incandescent Lights—Midway a Scene of Activity.

The Salt Palace will be thrown open to the public tomorrow evening. The programme at its opening will include: Address of welcome by W. A. Nelson, Governor Wells, Judge O. W. Roberts, Senator J. L. Rawlins. This programme of speeches will be interspersed with music from Christensen's first Regiment band and orchestra, that have been engaged for the entire season.

To be ready for this opening, every nerve is being strained, and the Palace and grounds present the busiest scene in Utah. More than 200 men have been at work—painters, decorators, electricians, artists, men of all trades, laborers and amusement directors. Everything is rushing and hurrying. There is a rush for men, a rush for material and a thousand and one things, all to be done at once.

Beauty of Palace.

The beauty of the Palace interior forces itself upon the beholder already in spite of the unsightly scaffolding and the presence of many workmen. The dome is complete and is magnificent in size, contour and coloring. The color scheme of the interior is blue, white and gold, and these are blended and shaded to make a myriad combinations. The salt, crystallized into blocks at Salt Lake, glittering with the brilliance of cut glass, sending dazzling rays in all directions till the eye is bewildered and blinded—this is the overshadowing feature of the interior. There will be 1,600 incandescent lights in and around this building, besides many are lights.

Great Auditorium.

The stage gives promise of great beauty, and the auditorium underneath the lofty dome, is a most interesting sight. Around the walls are artistic figures cast in plaster by home talent. The massive pillars, artistically decorated, add to the beauty of the interior. Nothing is more complete with this was ever seen in the west.

Outside, the same bustle and rush greets the eye in every corner. Huge crowds of salt are being carried away, while the music of the hammer and the trowel, the rip of the saw and the orders from the bosses stir the blood of the most indifferent.

Activity On Midway.

The midway presents the same busy scene. The midway is a most interesting sight. Around the walls are artistic figures cast in plaster by home talent. The massive pillars, artistically decorated, add to the beauty of the interior. Nothing is more complete with this was ever seen in the west.

Outside, the same bustle and rush greets the eye in every corner. Huge crowds of salt are being carried away, while the music of the hammer and the trowel, the rip of the saw and the orders from the bosses stir the blood of the most indifferent.

A Financial Success.

The Salt Palace association has invested in the neighborhood of $40,000 in this enterprise and now begins to feel the thrill of success. People even now pay admission and crowd in about the workmen, so deeply are they interested. The bicycle track has paid for itself, and concessions are being called for to such an extent that a good income is looked for even in this short season. The enterprise is not for this year alone, but will be conducted for at least three seasons, and may become one of Salt Lake's permanent attractions. Next season the grounds will be opened early and everything will be conducted upon a much more elaborate scale.

The Salt Palace Association.

extends a cordial invitation to all state, county and city officials to be present at the opening ceremonies.

WORK OF HIGH SCHOOL

Professor Clark Makes His Report to Superintendent Cooper.

WAS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

FAVORS COMMERCIAL COURSE OF FOUR YEARS.

New Books Added to Library—Ten Members of School Enlisted in the Late War—One of Them Was Ford Fisher Who Was Killed in Philippines.

Professor A. O. Clark has just made his report of the workings of the High School during the past year to City School Superintendent P. B. Cooper. He says that since the opening of the school year, Sept. 12, 1898, the work has been successful. There were 640 pupils at the beginning. The report proceeds as follows:

"The general work of the school has been pursued along four lines, or by means of four courses of study: A classical course, a scientific course, an English course and a commercial course. Each requires four years for its completion. The first three are approved and well established, and the last has been operated but two years and is yet in an experimental stage.

Favors Commercial Course.

"For my report for 1898 I presented some arguments to show why, in my judgment, a high school commercial course should cover a period of four years. After another year of experience with the present course, I am still further convinced of the soundness of that argument. I also find that a number of high school graduates, in a country which has tried short commercial courses are abandoning them as unsatisfactory, and substituting in their places commercial courses similar to ours and covering the full four years.

"To meet the needs of those who desire a warm lunch at the noon recess, the board decided in January to make use of the large predicament, and provided a lunch counter. The experiment proved a success on the whole. Some features of the enterprise are subject to abuse, however, and the committee will doubtless find means to correct the defects which have so far developed.

Money For Library.

"Through the generosity of a public-spirited citizen, Mr. John E. Dooly, our library was increased by the addition of $25 worth of carefully selected standard books, including Dr. Lord's 'Beacon Lights of History,' McCarthy's 'Life of Lincoln,' and works by Hulse, Abbott, Hillis, Gladden and others.

"Men of means can find few avenues along which their generous impulses may operate more successfully in building up good citizenship than the public High School. Some good books, a work of art, or an annual prize for the most meritorious production of the students, which lie within the reach of any who are disposed to embrace them.

High School Volunteers.

"This report would lack completeness if no mention were made of the part taken by High school boys in the recent military operations. At the breaking out of hostilities ten members of the school offered themselves in the service of their country. They were Ford Fisher, Harry Atkinson, Alex. Colbath, Will Kneass, Arthur Thomas, Lindsey Hudson, Louis Fehr, Joe Richards, Sam Porter and George White. Three of these—Sergeants Fisher, Fehr and Kneass—saw active service in the Philippines, and one, the lamented Fisher, more formal mention of whose death has been made—now lies a soldier's grave in that distant, tropical land. The remaining seven, after waiting vainly at the Presidio and other California points for an opportunity to go to the front, were finally compelled to accept an honorable discharge.

"The example of these ten brave young fellows in thus showing their unselfish devotion to country, was not lost sight of by the body of students, and no doubt produced a most beneficial effect in stimulating and fostering a healthful patriotism in the school."

A Souvenir Spoon.

Hicks—There are some summer girls constantly there, like the little girl, for example, she kept company with Fred Dunham all the winter.

"And takes next and love to each other furiously; but what of that? It was only in remembrance of their country that they were so devoted."

A sort of souvenir spoon, so to speak.

BRACES BODY AND BRAIN.

What Mariani Wine Does to Stimulate, Strengthen and Sustain the System.

Vin Mariani (Mariani wine) is recommended as a tonic by the medical profession all over the world. It has received written recommendations from more than 8,000 American physicians.

Mariani Wine stimulates, strengthens and sustains the system, braces body and brain. It gives strength, and is an aid to health and longevity. Makes the old young; keeps the young strong.

Mariani Wine is especially indicated for all malarial fevers. It gives a sense of buoyancy and vigor.

Mariani Wine is furthermore of especial value in cases of neuralgia, nervous debility, muscular relaxation, mental and physical depression and exhaustion, overwork, overstrain, nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, loss of appetite, emaciation and consumption. It builds up the vital forces and is a powerful rejuvenator. It gives strength and elasticity to the muscles and richness to the blood.

Mariani Wine is palatable and suited to the most delicate stomach. In the puny, sickly children, it is used with great benefit.

For overworked men and delicate women, Mariani Wine gives excellent results.

To overcome summer complaints, use Vin Mariani. For heat prostration try Vin Mariani, taken with cracked ice.

Mariani Wine is sold by all druggists. Try it, and you will find that it will well sustain its reputation. One word of caution, however—let no representation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute, and thus avoid disappointment.

To every one writing to Mariani & Co., 52 West Fifth Street, New York City, will be sent free, if this paper is mentioned, an interesting little book containing portraits and autographs of emperors, empresses, princes, cardinals, archbishops and other distinguished personages, endorsing Vin Mariani.

REPAIRING THE DAMAGE

Storm-swept Cities in Porto Rico Being Cleared Up.

CASUALTIES IN PONCE

MANY OF THE VICTIMS SWEEPED OUT TO SEA.

People Are Destitute, But Authorities Will Compel Them to Work For the Food Given Them—Fear Pestilence From Bad Water—Suffering In Other Districts.

New York, Aug. 19.—A dispatch to the Herald from Ponce, Porto Rico, says: These official figures are given of the casualties in the Ponce district, due to the hurricane:

Dead buried in city, 14; dead buried in country, 29; swept out to sea and drowned, 15; serious hospital cases resulting from the storm, 20.

The whole of the Ponce valley from Juana Diaz down is a complete ruin. Trees, houses, piles of river sand, bodies of cattle and general debris are scattered everywhere. The highway cannot be picked out in the midst of the wreckage and traveling is dangerous even yet.

In Ponce repairs are being pushed rapidly. The cars available are not sufficient to carry off the offensive matter left by the flood.

The local stores are resuming business. Telegraphic communication has not been re-established with San Juan. The French Railway company has failed. Other failures of merchants may follow, but stores to stores was heavier than at first thought.

No Fear of Epidemic.

Lieutenant Camus, president of the board of health, had in the hospitals before the storm one case of yellow fever and eight cases of smallpox. The latter were from the country districts and no further cases have developed. He thinks the city is perfectly safe from an outbreak of the disease, but if it should come he is fully equipped and able to check it.

The streets are rapidly resuming their normal sanitary condition and in less than two weeks they will be in better shape than ever before. Great improvements will be carried through and plans are being made for a sewer system. The only remaining danger is impure water. The supply is plentiful, but muddy. The board of health insists that the people shall boil it. The supplies undergo rigid inspection. There was danger of infection during the first three days but prompt work prevented it.

While food is dear, the lieutenant estimates that there is plenty stored in the island to tide over the present distress. He thinks it would be better for the government to buy supplies here than to ship them from the United States. He is positively of the opinion that the best plan of relief would be to give the subsistence adults work.

Make the Men Work.

Giving supplies indiscriminately will make the people who are naturally indolent, beggars. He says that during the first days, when food was given to every body, men refused to do work of any kind at 20 cents a day. Supplies were stopped and now they will work at ordinary rates. The board of health insists that the people shall boil it. The supplies undergo rigid inspection. There was danger of infection during the first three days but prompt work prevented it.

Relief is being rapidly and effectively distributed. Each post commander has received food and limited supplies of food for distribution. More supplies are being forwarded as fast as possible. Each commander has appointed district officers.

PRESIDENT IS WRONG

Champ Clark Denounces the War In Philippines.

IT SHOULD BE STOPPED

SAYS THAT CONGRESS SHOULD RESTRAIN M'KINLEY.

Should Be No Further Expenditure of American Blood and American Treasure—Administration Has No Policy But Is Letting Things Drift—Should Not Be Supported.

Omaha, Aug. 19.—Fully 1,000 Douglass Democrats, assisted by a delegation of about 300 members of the Jeffersonian club of Lancaster county, turned out today to attend the Jacksonian club picnic at Syndicate park. Many of the stalwarts were accompanied by their families, and with the outsiders who came to hear the speeches, they constituted a crowd of several thousand. W. J. Bryan accompanied the Lancaster county delegation.

Congressman Champ Clark of Missouri was the orator of the day. He declared the Democratic platform of 1900 must be the same as that of 1896. Said he:

"The people understand precisely what they want. They want the Chicago platform, and they intend to have it—unchanged, undiluted, unimpaired. They will break short off, as you can break a piece of glass, the necks of those who try to play them false. They are not in a frame of mind to be fooled with."

Mr. Clark declared that the overshadowing issue of 1896 was the question of free coinage, and that it will hold the same position in 1900.

Regarding the Philippine situation he declared that President McKinley has no policy. Said he:

Letting Things Drift.

"He is letting things drift, and they are drifting to the deuce. Meantime, our soldiers are being killed and dying of disease in shoals. For what purpose? Will anybody undertake to say? I defy any expansionist to stand up and inform us what the president's policy is. But some say, and more the pity and shame, some calling themselves Democrats, 'The president is wrong, but we must support the president.' To this has it come at last that we must shut up our thinkers, close our mouths, and chloroform our consciences in order to be considered patriots?"

"No, if the president is wrong he should be set right. If he will not cease to do wrong he should be bounced, as he will be so soon as the American people can get a crack at him. In the interim congress should restrain him from the further expenditure of American blood and American treasure. In his career of criminal aggression, for that is what he himself defined 'forcible annexation' to be."

"If he has not sufficient courage and fortitude and strength to resist the pressure of the rambles in human blood and lives, who are holding him on this evil and ruinous course, the American people will find a president who has. His name, too, is William—William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska."

In the evening W. J. Bryan addressed an audience of 3,000 people. He endorsed the idea of Congressman Clark and reiterated his views on the silver

FUSION WAS A FAILURE.

Kentucky Democrats and Populists Make Separate Nominations.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 19.—The Democrats and Populists held conventions here last night to select a candidate for congress to succeed the late W. L. Greene. They resulted in a failure to fuse, the Democrats nominating M. C. Harrington of North Platte and the Populists Judge Neville of the same place.

The result was not reached until 2 o'clock this morning. The Democratic convention had adjourned, but later was reconvened and further attempts at fusion were made.

The Democratic convention, on reconvening, refused to recede from the nomination of Harrington, and the Populists stood as firmly by Neville. Harrington withdrew, but the convention refused to make any endorsement other than his nomination.
